Yes, I have one. See avatar. Yes, I love it. No, I will never wear a vest again.

Pricy though. I think it's a little higher quality materials/craftsmanship than the Downs. But the Downs boxes are significantly cheaper and actually have more functionality with the ability to remove trays. If I had to do it over it'd be a tough decision.

For what it's worth, yes, you have a lot of customization you can do when you order. And yeah, you can never really change the # of trays. But no, you aren't set in stone. For instance I got mine with strip foam throughout. Except, I didn't like the foam or how it was spaced. I ripped it all out and replaced it all with C&F slit foam of the size and spacing I wanted. PERFECT.

Love my Richardson, though.
