The Down's biggest advantage is you can remove and replace boxes at will. The most I have ever used at one time was 6 and that is just too many for me anyway. My Richardson has 3 boxes with two of the boxes having the foam insert system so I can change them out. However, I would have liked them to offer a case for the foam system so the inserts don't get beat up in the truck when not in use. The Richardson however is just plain classic.
