im in for the whole weekend. I will keep you posted on the stream conditions and fish numbers. As with last year I will take a group with me. I hope we have better conditions this year but will have to play on the weather. So far no fish yet checked trout run and no fish yet. have heard of some boats trolling for walleye catching some hear and there. Lake conditions have been rough so no recent reports. Got rain and cooler temps for about the next week so if we get some good heavy rain we may see a few start to make a move in. Im going to hit the lake shore at night this weekend and see if anything is moving up at night. Look forward to seen everyone agin and meeting some new faces.
