Some national parks are already operated by private companies. Yellowstone has a private company running all the lodges, stores, and eateries. Not saying I endorse the concept just putting out the information.

there is quite a bit of concessionaires in PA State Parks already - eg. snack bar at Hickory Run beach, marina at Moraine State Park, etc.

I'm assuming privatization of PA State Parks means taking DCNR out of the picture completely...which imo is a very bad idea.

I'm all for entrance fees, if that's what is needed to help fund the parks. As long as PA residents get a discount over what out-of-state folks would have to pay....
