Boo-hoo. :(

That being said, im actually going to do just that...

Regardless of whether you think $250 for second hand A3 is too much (it is) he he wasn't trying to gouge anybody. He was looking for a trade. When someone asked about a price, it seems he threw out a number close to what it would cost to get a 5wt of comparable quality. If someone's willing to pay that, it's not his fault.

I do however think it's funny that this is biting him in the kiester, since he was the one that brought up the fact that A3s were being blown out when that other mope was trying to unload a used A3 and claiming the warranty was still valid.
