
Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Sandy Hook Salt Jam 11/13/11

Re: Sandy Hook Salt Jam 11/13/11

Author: : skybay

Date: : 2011/9/15 13:21:43

URL:

Salt or no Salt?

Sandy Hook is remarkable unique fishing and land form area (the Cape Cod of NJ state).
I have fished Sandy Hook several times and remember outstanding time I have had.

If you get lucky and the school of stripes or blues comes by, you will hammer them and come back home with sore hand from pumping the fish, than you sleep like a baby from amount of oxygen.

There are more fine locations in the area; one of them is Breezy Point – exceptionally unique bird nest and park peninsula with Manhattan and Sandy Hook view and Long Island beaches, including angler's paradise - Montauk.

I'm tear apart between Erie and Sandy Hook jams and they are both appealing to me but I lean towards the steelhead jam.

Either way I go I will pack my windbreaker jacket first.

Pictures:

film: 35mm Ektachrome 64, taken in the early eighties

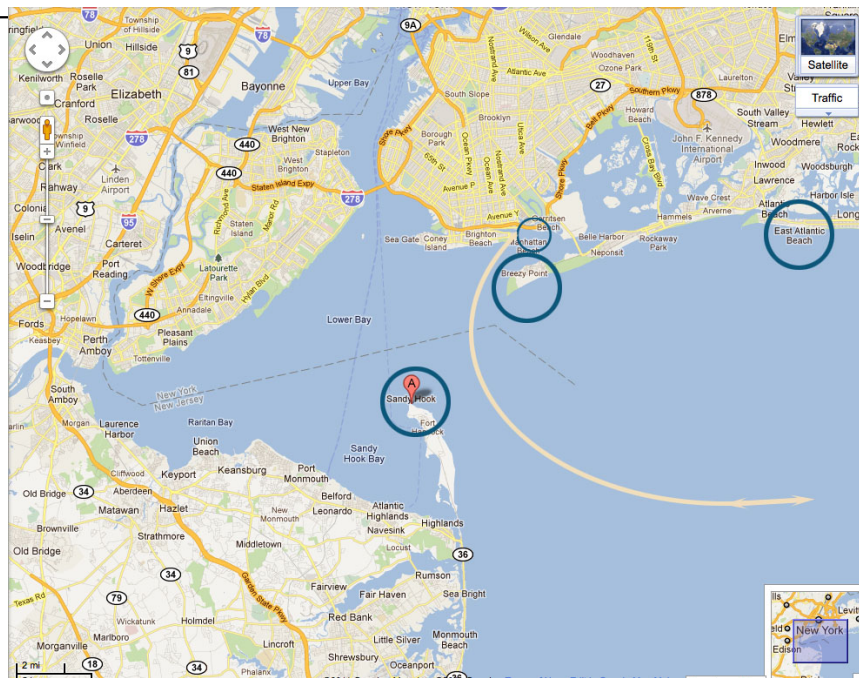

<http://www.stripers247.com/Long-Island-Stripers.php>

<http://www.stripers247.com/New-York-Stripers.php>

<http://www.stripersurf.com/ibsp.html>

Attach file:

 Sandy Hook SALT JAM map.jpg (272.87 KB)

 Jetty_at_Breezy_Point_Sandy_Hook_in_the_bacground.jpg (75.22 KB)

 stripe_bass.jpg (88.30 KB)

 Jetty_Breezy_Point.jpg (173.29 KB)

 Breezy_Point_view_on Verrazano_Bridge.jpg (114.83 KB)

