Spring was never bad IMO. I generally pick places where it runs away from the road and yards.

I've seen my share of deer and other wildlife, and I'm either in the woods or surrounded by woods. It's a relatively pleasant little valley. As far as surroundings, it's not among my top streams, but it ain't anywhere near the bottom either.

On my personal rating/enjoyment measure of a stream, I do take setting into account. Places like BFC and Penns do get bonus points for the setting. Spring does not, but it doesn't get penalized either.
