

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Dry Fly Hackle?

Re: Dry Fly Hackle?

Author: : dano

Date: : 2006/9/20 7:55:40

URL:

I like the Whiting necks in silver or #2's, mainly for the abundance of different sized feathers. For me, its the economical way to go.

On a few of my necks, I have completely used up some specific sizes and that's where the 100 packs come in handy.

What I don't like about these recent genetically engineered necks by Whiting is the absence of usable spade hackle for tailing dries.