FWIW, I'd check with Justin (Allen Fly Fishing), but I think this will work with Alpha that have the clutch bearing residing in the spool. You'll just have to get a new clutch bearing and stick it in the spool. It won't have the retainer clip to keep it in, but when it's screwed it, it won't go anywhere. And if you goop it up with enough grease when you put it in it won't go anywhere aw well.
