JDaddy,

Not sure what you meant by your first statement, but I do appreciate your post about me selling one. As for those models, they are pretty basic boats and are decent if you are looking for a basic model. The costs really step up when you look at the next stage of boats. With the entry line boats you get everything you need but they skimp on alot of stuff, fit and finish, oars etc. Don't get me wrong I have rowed both of them and they are OK. If I was looking for a boat I would drop the 5K-6K in a good used one and get a better model. As for shipping you are looking at $1000-$1200 minimum. That was a quote directly from Clackacraft to SEPA. That's why I am picking mine up out there. If it was only 400-500 I'd have it shipped in a heartbeat.
