Yep, that kills the deal on buying one generally. $1900 shipping on a $6000 boat is crazy. Like I said I'm driving out to get mine with TDB we can use it for a week on the best water in the US and then drive home with it. I can daisy chain two drift boats at once so if someone wants one delivered back to SEPA, I'll do it for $1000! :)

$1900 is crazy. Hell you can ship an individual car for a fair amount less than that. This gives me an idea.

+1

It would be more economical to drive out there, pick it up, and drive home, not including the cost of lost work, etc.
