

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Good Small Stream Rod

Re: Good Small Stream Rod

Author: : Deuterium

Date: : 2011/10/24 12:17:07

URL:

Quote:

dano wrote:

Quote:

Deuterium wrote:

Consider a bamboo rod. They are wonderful for this use. I have a 6'3" and two 7' bamboo rods that are my first choice when fishing tight spaces. All 4 wts.

6'3" PHY Midge?

I love my Beasley interpreted rendition. It's not just a small stream rod. It makes a fun medium stream dry fly stick.

My rod was made by the late George Maurer, based on the PHY midge taper. His model name is the Headwater. And I agree, it is much more versatile, but great on small bushy streams.