the short range at which you catch many trout on small streams can be surprising... I like these rio gold lines, they cast well and have a color change at 32 ft of fly line. allow for a leader, and the color change tells you your fly is about 40 ft away. on many small streams, you seldom make a long enough cast to see that color change.

if you see that you are usually making casts of < 40 ft when fishing small streams, you can set up rods to yard cast well at < 40 ft for those small streams.
