I say for the 6wt id cut a 2 or 3ft. head. My honest opinion I'd just get a full sink line instead. It will give ya better control of your depth and speed of your flies. I love the S.A. streamer express and the orvis depth charge is about the same design.

Dont use the shrink tubes put on the braided connectors and nail knot it 3 times and uv knot sence it. I used the same kit for my floating line on my 10wt. and bass bug line. Its all I could do to get 40 ft cast with a 6ft head a foot long fly.
