Dub,

My suggestion for a short sink tip to get you fly down is to try poly leaders. They are tapered and cast a whole lot better than a straight sink tip. They come in intermediate, fast, and x-tra fast sinking weights.

Now to "blast long casts" like your friend, I would try a shooting head with running line. You can get floating, intermediate, fast and x-tra fast heads. One or two false casts with a double haul and it will fly!

I'm not sure about how to line your switch rod. Maybe try a 10' Salmon poly leader on the end of the switch line.
