My preference is a full sink for boat fishing, or the scientific anglers wet tip express for wade fishing (25 ft sink tip + floating running line). I don't recommend trying to wade-fish with a full sinking line.

I've used the shooting heads, and PACO is dead on where it comes to not using the shrink tubing. Those heads don't tend to last very long. If you're going to fish with a sinking line consistently, you'll end up buying actual sinking line instead of the kits.
