

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : slapping the hamster???

Re: slapping the hamster???

Author: : tomgamber

Date: : 2007/1/5 19:53:13

URL:

My dad, who still has resisted the extra work involved in learning to fly cast uses a casting bubble on his little telescopic spinning rod. When we hiked up to mountain lakes in Idaho, he would have much success when that bubble smacked down on the lake rining the dinner bell for those cutts. I've experienced dumb fish that couldn't locate a precisely presented fly but turned to look at one that was smacked down on the water. Hey , whatever works, man.