
Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Sandy Hook Salt Jam 11/13/11

Re: Sandy Hook Salt Jam 11/13/11

Author: : Fredrick

Date: : 2011/11/9 23:36:39

URL:

Quote:

BrandonMH wrote:

Man, I want to salt fly fish again so bad I can taste it. My salt fly box is under the tv since I came back from LBI, staring at me, calling. The first and only shot I had was ruined by the incoming tide, I should have went right back at it shortly after that, at the slack tide, but didn't. I was slinging bait, and have been hooked and had the call to salt fly fish again. I did scope the leaves down in the yard today, and was on the roof, cleaning the gutters before the rain tomorrow. I doubt I will make it, but really want to hit up some more salt. I do have a fair bit of work to do at work and home and might have a chance to use another vacation day soon. Sandy hook isn't much faster of a drive for me than LBI, and I know LBI. Still torn on going or obligations....

Never fished LBI but this would be a opportunity for you to fish the salt with the long rod