I grew up in south eastern Massachusetts, fly fishing the kettle ponds on Cape Cod.

When I was about 14, I found a copy of "In The Ring Of The Rise" in my parents basement and I remember being captivated by the photography and really trying to digest what the author had to say.

I asked my Dad where he got it and he said he bought it in a fly shop back in the 70's when he went to PA to fish the Yellow Breeches and the Letort Spring Run.

Little did he or I know that 20 years later happenstance would bring me to south central PA and I would settle down in Boiling Springs where I could fish those places I'd read about over and over again growing up.

I still have that book and it's still one of my favorites.
