

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Where do the brandywine smallies go?

Re: Where do the brandywine smallies go?

Author: : Numb3rs

Date: : 2011/11/16 8:00:18

URL:

I really appreciate the info. Definitely a helpful board. I do agree that they are probably in the largest broadest pools above the dams. I also believe smallies are very capable of finding good hiding spots in their semi hibernative state. This may be why I can't see any. Its just strange to see an empty stream that seemingly happens overnight, when so much life existed everywhere just weeks earlier.