I'm suspect of any report from the governor's office. his, is the most active group opposing the site and would do anything to keep WIPP from happening. for this country to move foward toward energy relief, we must be able to use this site to store spent fuel. the current storage ares in the power plants are full and can not hold any more fuel rods. plus as was stated they are a hazard and risk to the local communities becasuse they can be targeted by terrorists and more easily breeched than a forified central location.
