

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Soft hackled flies, materials

Re: Soft hackled flies, materials

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2007/1/7 11:59:33

URL:

That's right, you can use grouse or partridge for a lot of flies, when that brownish, speckled look is what you want.

Also, hen neck hackles are available in a very wide variety of colors.

Including some that have that mottled brownish look similar to grouse and partridge.

And blue dun, which is good for many mayfly imitations.

I think these are the 2 main colors you need to tie wetflies.