I use TMC and Mustads. At one time I used only Partridge (I love those hooks) but when you're cutting costs and can't justify the additional cost they go. If I find a good deal I buy and use them. In the smaller hooks and for most flies in general if I catch 3 fish per fly I usually change and put them in the used fly compartment and they become the emergency only flies. I gave up on the smaller than 24's now a day. If I want a smaller fly which I do a lot is I'll tie a short 24 with good luck and gives you a little more strength with the bigger fish. To have young eyes again and no magnifiers to tie would be great. The magical turn of events for most people in the 40's when reading and tying flies the cheater glasses come out (LOL).
