Bikerfish,

Does your bike run on water or something? Do you enjoy your warm shower? It is kind of nice to have lights that turn on around the house. I bet you enjoy having a warm house on those cold winter nights. I would bet there is something made of plastic within reach of you right now. I am all for proper management and protection but I am also all for the jobs and money that the industry is bringing into the state.

MHanes I think Bikerfish and the rest of us realize the importance of the energy industry but thanks for the reminder 🙄 What you and some others on here IMO fail to realize is at what cost? You say you are for proper management and protection. Do you really think that is what is happening right now?
