I've got 3 pair I use regularly...two smith action optics (one in yellow lens for low light, and one in brown lens for brighter conditions.) I also have a pair of orvis with a dark lens for very sunny days. I have some cheaper ones but really do feel the better ones cut the glare on the water much better. For one pair, I would go with the mid-darkness lens...these are the ones I wear 50% of the time out of the 3 pairs.
