Yeah, my mother is a nurse. I have hemo's for life. Yeah, they're more strict than they used to be and she'll be retiring soon, but I think the stockpile in the basement will last. :)

Like sunglasses, I can be trusted to lose about a pair per year. Unlike sunglasses, the hemos are likely sitting on a streambottom somewhere (I usually sit on the glasses and break em).

Curved tip hemo's are MUCH better than straight tipped, just in case anyone hasn't had them before.
