Dear Mark,

Just a note to second Jack's remarks to let us know what was discussed. I'm anxious to know if they plan on raising the lake level and holding back more water initially.

I thought last year's plan was much more workable and sensible than 2005's, but we all know how things worked out in reality based on the tropical storm in June. Planning is good, but Mother Nature will ultimately be the decider, same as always. 😊
