You are quite lucky to have the time to scout a stream twice before fishing it. I can barely get out fishing 3 times lol.

Nice write up btw. It's neat how our fly fishing goes well beyond casting a fly selection the longer we're in the sport. Most people probably go through the progression you wrote about but don't think to write it out or really converse about it. Thanks for a second into the mind of Sal. Though it's scary in there, there is some good stuff to be shared.
