PWK,

I haven't personally heard much about muskies in the lower Yough but I know they're there. Some guys fish the Mon for 'em too. Again, I'm not familiar with these waters and have only fished the Yough up in the trout area.

If I was going to scout them out, I'd do a map recon to first locate public access areas and look for feeder creeks. Take a day to explore and see if you can find spots that are wadeable or fishable from shore. I'd imagine that area has a lot of urbanization, mass construction buildings and channelized/walled banks? Also, if it were me, I'd prospect with conventional gear before trying FFing.

Should be a fun quest. 😊
