Guys this is great and I think some of the stuff we thought would come out of the forum. Truly an educational and databank for hatches and such in the region.

Afish and the other mods really encouraged this and thank them for their help. You may see us change the title of a post once we have more details established. Again the hope here is we can build on some regional information.

I will add a separate sticky on this, but please be mindful of posting only your photographs. You may even want to watermark with a copyright mark. I don't want to get into a legal thread here, but I have gotten taken down notices for photographs on the site.
