

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Eastern Green Drake

Re: Eastern Green Drake

Author: : brookiesofpa

Date: : 2012/1/15 17:18:02

URL:

Quote:

pcray1231 wrote:

Great pics!

In western PA (Allegheny drainage mostly), Hex's are much more common and produce similarly huge hatches and spinner falls, but a lot of people incorrectly call them Green Drakes too. Drakes have 3 tails, Hex's have 2.

Hex over here?! Do they hatch on Oil Creek? Could ya show me a pict pcray1231? I would so love to fish for some trout w hex or green drakes for that matter.

Thanks

I had to get a new username as it wouldn't let me log on.

Greg