

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Eastern Green Drake

Re: Eastern Green Drake

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2012/1/15 17:37:14

URL:

I don't have any pics of hex's, no. Post #9 linked pictures of hex's in PA, see above, those are ALL Pittsburgh area stories, and they are hex's, not drakes.

Yes, I have personally witnessed monster hex hatches on the river and some of it's big tribs. And I've also witnessed hex's in lesser numbers on smaller waters.

I have never seen a hex on Oil Creek. That doesn't mean it doesn't have em, it seems like it should be ideal, and there are certainly streams nearby that do have them. I've seen a couple on Tionesta and I was told second hand that Brokenstraw gets em, and I've personally fished over wild trout rising eagerly to hex's in a stream system that runs into the Allegheny not far from Oil City.