Another vote for the Action Optics. I am fortunate that my prescription has not changed much the past few years, and I have been able to get 3 yrs+ out of them. I have the amber. When I fish in the evenings, if it gets too dark to see with them on, and I do not have a flashlight, I know I still have enough light left to get back to the car. You won't regret it if you get them. They don't scratch easily, and if you keep them in the case when not in use, you will have them for years.
