I use furled leaders for everything except steelhead.

I prefer uni-thread, but i have a couple fluorocarbons that are pretty nice too. I usually buy them online from guys on forums, usually $5 or less.

Bought the wood to build a furling jig but just didnt seem to be worth the effort to complete it when one $5 leader can last 2+ years.

Most of mine are around 6' and i will add tippet material if i want them longer, will occasionally add a couple pieces if i am using very small flies.
