How many muskies did you guys catch on fly gear last year?

None for me - got out for muskies two or three times and had no luck on either fly or conventional gear in 2011. Did see some very nice fish but couldn't close the deal. I often get a couple small ones incidentally when bass fishing over the course of a year. Hopefully, this year will be better. I might actually have some time later today to hit a favorite creek mouth - maybe 2012 will be a better toothy fish year.
