I have been fly fishing the middle allegheny for ten years or so and my friend tom aka fishnut has been fishing it alot longer. Yea there are some true monsters in there but if you are wade fishing with a fly rod you are at a major handicap. It is big deep water a huge fish could easily go undetected in there. Tom has caught some true trophy muskie over 40 inches and i have heard storys about a fat boy over 50 inches patrolling the mouth of a certain trib. They say he eats the 30+ inch long carp that lay in there. Though i have yet to see him.
