Anybody that feels the need to "SPOT BURN" feel free to contact me directly. By PM of course so not to upset anybody..lol. In all seriousness I know first hand how this can be bad for a fishery but in the same respect there are some members of this forum(me especially) that really appreciate when a seasoned member throws us a bone once and a while. I've taken many bass fisherman under my belt and showed them the ropes with disgression of coarse, till I get a feel for the kind of person they are. This is one of the reasons I am on this forum. Im realitively new to the area after getting out of the Marine Corps. When I got out I met a gentleman who loved to fish as much as I do and we became good friends and fished together almost everyday. He passed away last year and now I have nowone to fish with. Since all we did was fish the river for bass and walleye I dont know many places to fish for trout or know anybody to show me the ropes. So If anybody is looking for someone to fish with hit me up im always looking for the next adventure. Or if you wanna "SPOT BURN" ...LOL....just kidding!
