There were quite a few BWOs on the Saucon yesterday afternoon from maybe 2:00 PM to 3:30 PM or so, when the sun was on the water and the air temp was around 50 degrees. Water was 46-47 degrees. I did not see a rise to any of them tho did see a a half dozen rises to midges. For me, it was a beautiful day, the fishing was great but the catching was not so hot.
