

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : weight below the nymph?

Re: weight below the nymph?

Author: : JustFish

Date: : 2008/3/10 18:59:25

URL:

When I fish a tandem rig I like to cut a piece of tippet extra long for my last fly and have a long tag end after I tie my knot for the last fly. I then tie a figure eight knot and attach my split shot. I like this way better than doing it on your blood knot b/c I do a lot of roll casting when I am nymphing and through experience after a while the tag end on the blood knot with shot wraps around your leader and can make a mess. doing it on your last fly has produced better for me.