

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Zebras

Re: Zebras

Author: : IloveBrookies

Date: : 2012/2/19 15:33:57

URL:

Midges will catch fish year-round, just about anywhere. I usually fish them as a dropper off of a heavier beadhead fly to get them down, but sometimes I'll fish a couple of them in different colors to see what's working. I usually fish them under an indicator, but I've had luck w/o as well.

As far as tying, I tie them like the pics posted earlier in the thread, but I'll also add a couple twists of peacock herl and/or partridge hackle just below the bead.