Two main kinds of soft hackles form me: one with a spun fur body and the other with a wire, thread, or tubing body. hackle is hen back, starling, or quail depending on size or color. I do them all in the same color schemes: tan, ginger, brown, rust, green, olive, black, peacock, and grey. Cool thing about soft hackles you can fish them for any situation between surface film and bottom. Tie some thin ones to grease in the surface. Tie others with beads to nymph with.
