

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Should we trust the DEP?

Re: Should we trust the DEP?

Author: : bikerfish

Date: : 2012/3/7 7:00:00

URL:

that may be the case, but what troubles me after reading the article is how the DEP refuses to test their water again. I mean, come on, these people have a problem that didn't exist before, step up and figure out what it is, whether it was caused by drilling or not doesn't matter. this is happening not far from me and is my greatest fear. it's one thing to kiss the ass of the gas industry, it's another to sacrifice our own citizens in the process. I'd call the feds, but of course they are probably on the payroll as well(pun intended)