Depends on how deep you go. I only fish 3 wt on every stream. I haven't really found a place that I needed anything bigger. That being said it really depends on how deep your trying to get. I've never used a sink tip line although I own two. So usually I'll just add shot as needed. But the mountain streams I've been fishing the bead and lead on the fly is enough for me as there very shallow. And if the waters fast like you said shot will most likely get you down the fastest.
