

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : grannom question

Re: grannom question

Author: : dryflyguy

Date: : 2012/3/23 10:54:21

URL:

They usually last a week. And once they start, they will keep coming - regardless of the weather conditions. Although cold weather will prolong the hatch some.

But even with the forecast highs in the '50's - which is pretty much normal for this time of year - I would get out to fish them as much as you can now