

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Grannom

Re: Grannom

Author: : ryguyfi

Date: : 2012/3/30 23:21:40

URL:

a "walts worm" is a fly pattern, not actually representing any specific bug. That pupa in the picture is about a size 12-14. Crane fly larvae are massive compared to that. It's a caddis, that much is for sure. Check out the crane fly larvae thread a few down to see how big they truly are.