

---

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Lehigh River, Carbon County, 4/1/ 2012

Re: Lehigh River, Carbon County, 4/1/ 2012

Author: : SBecker

Date: : 2012/4/4 13:21:03

URL:

Quote:

AugustWest wrote:

Hey Becker, I was one of the 2 guys you saw while you filmed this. Ditto on the caddis hatch. It was unreal only to be outdone by a few white fly hatches I have seen on the Susky. My guess is they are gorged on what is underneath.

I played with the rising fish below you until he finally stopped and I could not see. Did catch one big brown earlier in the fast water on a Hendrickson.

By the way, we have a bet. Did you ,fall in over your waders or not?

I would not describe it as a fall. More of a gradual slide that I could not stop, till I began to float. 😊. There were some real beasts on top. Those fish were like a whales swimming across the top of the water with their mouths open. Taking in all of the insects that floated near them.