

---

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Caddis?

Caddis?

Author: : flyfisherman22

Date: : 2012/4/5 19:31:45

URL:

Hey guys,

While fishing Kettle Creek this past weekend, my buddies where taking a break and looking to catch some aquatic insects and found this stick completely covered with Caddis (i think). Ive just never seen anything like this and wanted to verify this. the water temp was 48-50 degrees. The water level was at june levels (low and gin clear).

They were pretty small, probably size 16. But definitely no bigger than a 14. Also on the stick, there were hendricksons, and quill. but i dont believe i got a picture with any in the frame.

Attach file:

---

 Kettle Creek resized.jpg (27.71 KB)

 Kettle Creek resized 2.jpg (26.91 KB)

 Kettle Creek resized 3.jpg (26.96 KB)

