

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Caddis?

Re: Caddis?

Author: : flyfisherman22

Date: : 2012/4/6 22:38:04

URL:

I will email you the full size images as soon as i get back to my personal computer.

The branch was found in a faster run about a foot underwater. (my buddy lost to many flies in it to leave it be).

on the branch, there were a few hendricksons, with the occasional quill. but none of the "worms" had any casing, nor was there any empty casings on the branch. just have never seen anything like this.