I have been trying to get the hang of the blood knot. It seems that it is basically 2 classic knots that connect each other together. My trouble is once i wrap the tag end and bring it through what is the best way to finish the knot. I have dampened the twists to allow a smoother slide. but do you pull both tag ends or putt the line itself. I want to get the hang of this knot to start tying my own tapered leaders.

Any insight?
