

---

Subject: : Mayflies (Order: Ephemeroptera )

Topic: : Cream Cahill - Maccaffertium Interpunctatum

Re: One from last year

Author: : Maurice

Date: : 2012/4/17 21:31:11

URL:

Quote:

dkile wrote:

It is a Cahill. Does anyone know why they they don't still use Stenacron? I think they are are light Cahills too.

Why do you say light cahill? If you check the TN site under the genus I picked it has a pic from the Little J on May 27.

My first guess without looking was light cahill or Yellow Cahill I would call it but after checking the evidence led me to my suggestion.

Whats important is its a cahill and likely the underside is cream colored like nearly all of them so a mottled winged (lemon colored) cream imitation would be the choice.